

Hybrid Synthetic Data Generation for Causal Inference

Generate covariates, then model the treatment and outcome mechanisms separately — preserving the treatment-effect contrast that defines the ATE.

Remedy (top): the decomposition lets the outcome mechanism be trained and diagnosed as an estimand-relevant component, and treatment can be randomized to improve overlap.